

com.softing.opc.client.api.
DaSession.browse

com.softing.opc.client.api.
DaSession.setClientName

com.softing.opc.client.api.
DaSubscription.setName

com.softing.opc.client.impl.jna.
OTClient.OTSysFreeString

```
graph LR; A[com.softing.opc.client.api.DaSession.browse] --> D[com.softing.opc.client.impl.jna.OTClient.OTSysFreeString]; B[com.softing.opc.client.api.DaSession.setClientName] --> D; C[com.softing.opc.client.api.DaSubscription.setName] --> D;
```

The diagram illustrates a mapping from three public API methods to a single internal implementation method. Three light gray boxes on the left, each containing a package and method name, have blue arrows pointing to a single dark gray box on the right. The dark gray box also contains a package and method name. The arrows originate from the right side of each light gray box and point towards the left side of the dark gray box.