

CGridCtrl::OnLButtonDblClk

CGridCtrl::OnLButtonDown

CGridCtrl::OnLButtonUp

CGridCtrl::OnRButtonUp

CGridCtrl::GetPointClicked

```
graph LR; A[CGridCtrl::OnLButtonDblClk] --> D[CGridCtrl::GetPointClicked]; B[CGridCtrl::OnLButtonDown] --> D; C[CGridCtrl::OnLButtonUp] --> D; E[CGridCtrl::OnRButtonUp] --> D;
```

The diagram illustrates a central function, CGridCtrl::GetPointClicked, which is the target of four other functions: CGridCtrl::OnLButtonDblClk, CGridCtrl::OnLButtonDown, CGridCtrl::OnLButtonUp, and CGridCtrl::OnRButtonUp. All four source functions are located on the left side of the image, while the target function is on the right. Blue arrows indicate the direction of the call or relationship from each source function to the target function.